Upland bird hunting in full swing at Red Bank

You can name the game; there is a wide variety of upland game bird hunting available at the Red Bank Ranch.

There's walk-up pheasant hunting, driven pheasant hunts, quail hunts, chukar and turkey. That's the reason that for over 55 years Red Bank has been the choice of sportsmen from near and far.

Bob White quail hunting has been the "bread and butter" of the Red Bank Ranch for over half a century. They continue the tradition today with vast fields of grain and open rangeland where birds concentrate. In addition we have a thriving population of Tennessee Reds. These birds are a real challenge. In fact, Brian Riley wants to advise you to bring an extra box of shells. These guys are fast!

And for a twist on quail hunting, we offer off-site Valley Quail hunting.

Pheasant hunting is as popular as ever, and you'll find that Red Bank is a great place for your traditional field hunt. In recent years the driven pheasant hunts have regained popularity. The 100 foot cliffs of Red Bank Creek make this an exciting experience for groups as few as six and up to 12.

In terms of doves, the opening of the season was a real success. You'll hear stories years from now about this season. And dove hunting is still going on at Red Bank. You can make it a part of your trip.

Gobbler hunters, we need your help. There are a LOT of turkeys on and around Red Bank Ranch. This year there were double and triple hatches. Our team has seen huge flocks. The fall season is for toms and hens with a limit of two per season. We have secured additional ranches for turkey hunting. With the big numbers of turkeys spotted so far hunters will have good luck.

"Don't forget that lodging and meals are also available," Brian said. "We love to have groups because that's the most fun for everyone. We have companies that come for hunting, team building and we can provide for meetings and conferences. We want to make your outing the best!"

So get your group together from work or from home. You'll have the kind of outdoor experience hunters want. There's good hunting, good friends and the great outdoors.

These 6-month old German Shorthair Pointers are "Red Bank Buddy" and "Red Bank Floozy." They were shipped in from Nebraska and raised at the Red Bank Ranch. We have high expectation of these two new prospects.

Full circle in outdoor sports

The young ladies pictured below and at right are a pair we are very proud of. These gals started with us as beginners at the Kids Outdoor Summer Camp. Then they moved to the advanced class, continued by coming back to donate their time, and finally became paid counselors. They had been on hunting excursions before, but this time it was all them...on their own for their first real hunt.

These 11-year campers are what it is all about at the KOSC. All of the folks at Red Bank Outfitters believe that if the traditions we have as sportsmen and sportswomen are to continue, then these are the people we need to be looking toward for the future. And that is a main goal of KOSC: get the youth involved in the skills, tradition and enjoyment that these sports provide. The future of the sport depends on it.

And while on the subject of KOSC, we are pleased to announce a new staff member: world champion archer Paige Pearce-Gore has been named the new Assistant Executive Director. If you have a youngster who would like to learn about the outdoors, shooting, fishing, archery and more, contact us about KOSC for the summer of 2018 dates.

By the way, some other folks had success in hunting hogs at Red Bank. We believe the photos below speaks for themselves.

Oh deer!

When deer season rolls around, the search for big bucks heats up. Finding one is sometimes impossible. However these guys got the job done. (Left) Don Morrow came to the Red Bank Ranch and found a nice one (B Zone) with Bo Riley. Several nice ones were taken, and next year...look out!

We are also proud of our buddy, Vince Marrow. He had a "X" zone PLM tag and took a great Mule Deer with Bo Riley.

The Riley Family

“We enjoy hunting too!”

(Left) Brian and Shellie Riley show off the magnificent elk Brian brought down near Chama, NM. Brian said, “I want to thank Roger Sabatte for the chance of a life-time with this trip.” (Below) Bo Riley and Ricky Fimea went bow hunting in Idaho and harvested another big elk. Brian admitted that it might have been just a little tougher for these young guys to do it with a bow.

(Above left) After a day in the field, guests and crew like to gather on the patio at the lodge and talk over the day’s events. (Above center) A new addition to the Riley stable of quality hunting dogs is this Lab pup, “Mylee.” We think she’ll be a good one! (Above right) Bo Riley and Maggie Hansen get ready for a morning dove hunt.

Hey Duck Hunters...

When you get out of the blind why not come out for a great lunch.....and hunt quail in the afternoon at the Red Bank Ranch!

You could have your limit of quail by dark. Give us two days notice, arrive by 2 PM, and we'll host your party for lunch and a terrific quail hunt.
